Consider This When Comparing Case Numbers

Many of you have undoubtedly noticed an increase in known cases over the past 2 weeks, both locally and across the state. At first glance, these numbers can be concerning. However, it is important that we look beyond a single number or statistic and evaluate all aspects of our COVID-19 data.

Beaufort County, like many across our state, began an aggressive testing and contact tracing campaign several weeks ago. This effort has allowed for more cases to be identified both locally and statewide. An increase in known cases are expected with initiatives such as these. Simply speaking, the more people you test, the more known cases you are likely to find. Especially when you are testing people who have been determined to have had contact with other known cases. Its also important to know that we have identified approximately 28 people with negative results for every positive case within our county. Hence the importance of evaluating the total test conducted instead of simply focusing on a single number. It is comparisons such as these that help us to determine the prevalence, or how common this virus is in our area.

We are currently preparing to increase our testing efforts to yet another level in the coming weeks. This will allow us to monitor impacts within specific communities, while also providing for more data in which to make response, mitigation and preventative decisions.

Resources

“Check My Symptoms”

NCDHHS has created a “Check My Symptoms” tool that will help you check your symptoms online and determine if you will be recommended to be tested for COVID-19. After you enter your symptoms, if it is recommended that you get tested, you will receive a list of nearby testing sites via email or text. This is an informational tool to help you determine if you may need to be tested; however it is not a physician order. Testing sites may require their own screening. The “Check My Symptoms” tool can be accessed using the following link.
